Church to Oppose Taking of Land To Widen Street

Consistory Says Loss of Strip Eight Feet Wide Would Put Line Close to Gravestones

The First Dutch Reformed Church Consistory has voted to oppose the city's plan to take church property for the widening of Wall street. The announcement of the decision was made at the annual congregational meeting Tuesday night. The proposed plan to take eight feet on the church side of the street would bring the line close to the first row of gravestones in the church yard, it was reported.

Alternative suggestions for relieving the traffic congestion in the Wall street block given at the meeting were to eliminate parking of cars along the thoroughfare; or make it a one-way street, a plan often used in New York.

The meeting Tuesday night marked the 290th year of continuous religious service in the community. Annual reports of the societies and staff were read and six new members were elected to the Consistory. Approximately 180 attended the meeting.

Roger H. Loughran, Herbert Fisher and George Kernenbach were elected elders. They will succeed M. Clifford Miller, N. Jansen Fowler and Alvin Feuerstein whose terms expired.

Minford Overholt, Kenneth Martin and Charles Bell were elected deacons to succeed Charles Goble, Jr., George Shilvers and Henry Milligan.

Reporting for the Building Fund Committee, G. Herbert DeKay announced an actual balance on hand of $28,912.81. Balance of outstanding pledges is $10,370.34. No date has been established to begin construction. Plans are to remodel the Bethany Hall portion of the church building.

In the reports it was noted that the church has 761 active members representing 490 families. The Sunday school enrollment from cradle roll through home department is 352; the average attendance at Sunday school, 185, with a new high in many years being reached recently when 211 students attended one Sunday school session. The total enrollment of adults and youth in the choir program is 186.

M. Clifford Miller, senior elder, presided. A family supper served prior to the meeting and while reports were given the children were entertained with movies and games in the church house. After the meeting the movie concerning church work, Salt of the Earth, was shown.

Licenses Expire May 31

Chauffeur licenses expire on May 31, 1949, and should be renewed prior to that time. County Clerk Harry D. Sutton calls attention to the expiration date and suggests an early renewal in order to avoid the last minute rush. Renewals may now be had at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office on Main street.

To Discuss Milk

Senator Says Commission to Meet With Dealers on Price Cuts

Albany, N. Y., April 27 (AP)—The first of a series of official meetings to discuss ways to cut consumer milk prices in New York city will be held there Thursday. Senator Austin W. Erwin, Genesee Republican, said the temporary state commission on agriculture would meet with New York dealers. He is commission chairman.

The commission reported to Governor Dewey and the Legislature March 16 on its investigation in the "spread" between the prices paid by consumers and those received by milk producers.

Business Men to Petition State for Crossing Delay; Cook: 'Nobody Ever Ready'

One Woman Shouts Her Defiance of Authority; Rafalowsky, However, Says Opposition Not Point of Meeting; Case Says 'Nobody Can Get Extension'

The Central Business Men's Association will petition the state through Senator Arthur H. Wicks for an extension of time beyond May 31 for the moving of tenants and property holders in the Broadway crossing project area, the group decided last night.

Attorney Andrew J. Cook proposed a bid for more time through a letter to the senator from the association after stressing the apparent reality of the project, and reasoning against a suggestion to employ counsel.

Property holders and tenants emphasized their inability to move within the allotted time, and an emphatic interlude during the session in the meeting room of the Ruzzo Bowlatorium, was a declaration by Mrs. Charles E. Elmendorf, 569 Broadway, that she was not going to move for "Governor Dewey, the state, the city, the railroad or anybody else."

Local Memorial Planned Sunday For Rabbi Wise

STEPHEN S. WISE

A memorial service in memory of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, world famous rabbi, who died April 19, will be held at Temple Emanuel next Sunday at 11:15 a. m. The entire community is invited.

The services will be conducted by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel and Rabbi Frank D. Polke of Congregation Ahavath Israel. Larry Jacob will render a memorial prayer and the Temple Emanuel choir will sing.

Dr. Wise, world-famous Jewish leader and militant defender of liberal causes, was the founder of the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish Institute of Religion, a seminary for rabbis; and the Free Synagogue.

He was known as one of America's great preachers. He also was editor of the magazine "Opinion." Dr. Wise's disciples have served Temple Emanuel for about 25 years. The graduates of the Jewish Institute of Religion who have served the Temple are Rabbis Morris Rose, Aaron Lefkowitz, Benjamin Schultz and Victor Epstein. Rabbi Bloom also is a graduate of the Jewish Institute of Religion.

Commenting on the recent death of noted 75-year-old rabbi, Rabbi Bloom today said, "Dr. Wise's life and work were devoted entirely to the welfare not only of his own people but of all groups who needed a liberal clumpion."

Rabbi Bloom added, "Within the past few weeks he spoke out against American leadership which seemed bent on war. Fearless and forthright, when the story of reform and social progress in America will be evaluated, when the miracle of Israel will be history, Rabbi Wise's share in this country's democratic growth and in his people's status throughout the world, will loom large and magnificent. Jewry has lost a great champion and democracy a courageous fighter."

U. S. Gives Note to Reds on Blockade; Asks When and on What Conditions

Aim Is to Hold Formal Negotiations, Get Soviet Views on Paper

New York, April 27 (AP)—The United States delivered a note to the Russians here today asking for a formal statement as to when and on what conditions they will lift their Berlin blockade.

The note was taken by Philip C. Jessup, American ambassador-at-large, to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malin. Jessup called on Malin at the Soviet offices on Upper Park avenue.

The text of the American communication was not made public, but informed quarters said its main purpose was to shift the Berlin negotiations to a formal basis and get Russia's views down on paper.

Previously no views had been exchanged in writing since Jessup first brought up the question in an informal talk with Malin at Lake Success February 15.

Jessup brought the note with him on his return to New York this morning after talks in Washington yesterday with President Truman and State Department officials.

Before going alone to see Malin, Jessup met with members of the U. S. delegation to the U. N. at the American headquarters, 2 Park avenue. He disappeared later and was understood to have called on British and French representatives to show them the note.

The American note was understood to seek clarification specifically on two issues: An exact understanding as to what would be involved in any agreement to lift the blockade and a proposed timetable.

A U. S. spokesman said this switch to a formal exchange of notes probably would result in some delay in getting Russia's views. It was expected, he said, that Malin would transmit the American note to his immediate superior here, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko who in turn probably would have to consult Moscow before replying.

No information on the talks will be given out immediately after the meeting, the spokesman said. Whatever information is given out is expected to come from a news conference later in the day at Lake Success.

The United States hopes to learn at this meeting whether Russia is ready to lift the blockade of Berlin without attaching unacceptable conditions.

Calder Takes Royall Post

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Curtis E. Calder, utilities executive, has agreed to become secretary of the army.

Gordon Gray, now assistant secretary, will be promoted to undersecretary and serve as acting secretary until Calder can take over the post.

This is the job formerly held by Kenneth Royall. Calder, chairman of the board of Electric Bond and Share, says he will be ready to take over the top army post within 60 days.

Secretary of Defense Louis A. Calder, who had been urging Calder to take the post, was reported to have discussed the matter with President Truman during a White House call today.

Barris and Reidel Hold World's Endurance Mark

Fullerton, Calif., April 27 (AP)—Bill Barris and Dick Reidel agreed today it's wonderful to have and to hold the world endurance flight mark, but:

"We'll never try it again," says Barris.

"Roger!" echoes Reidel. The weary pair had planned to leave with their wives for a beach hide-out last night after their 1,008-hour aerial ordeal. But friends and well-wishers staged a big party for them at the Hollywood Knickerbocker Hotel.

Man Is Free; Sealed in Room By Mother at War Outbreak

Parents Are Asked To Have Children Checked at School

Pre-Kindergarten Tests Will Be Necessary; Begin at M. J. M. School in May

Parents who have children expecting to enter Kingston kindergarten next fall are requested to contact the school medical office in the high school immediately for an appointment for a pre-kindergarten examination of their child.

An appointment may be made by calling Kingston 1970, medical office, and a reservation will be made. The parent should accompany the pupil in order that a brief medical history may be obtained. These pre-kindergarten clinics will be held at the Myron J. Michael school medical office every day between 9 and 3:30.

It is urged that appointments be made early so that a schedule of examinations may be arranged. By conducting the clinic on an appointment basis there will be no long wait for parents and the medical department will be able to function efficiently.

For a child entering school for the first time next fall the Board of Education, by virtue of the Education Law, has arranged through its medical department for "physical check-up. Under the Education Law a child must be examined once a year.

In the past the examination of children entering kindergarten has been made in the fall. The plan for conducting examinations prior to the closing of the schools in June will permit parents of children who may have some defect, arising through the family physician to have such defect corrected during the summer season and prior to the opening of kindergarten in the fall.

In order that the school medical authorities can better understand the child obtain an adequate medical history, and give the parent ample time to correct defects found, the plan to examine all entering kindergartners, this spring, will get under way on May 2, rather than next fall. Appointment should be made immediately.

Through this program the medical department officials hope not only to have a better concept of the child's physical condition but also give the parent and family physician or dentist an opportunity to correct remediable defects.

It is suggested that booster doses of diphtheria toxoid and vaccination be administered at this time by the family physician. However if the parent so desires these services will be available at the clinic.

Highest Budget Approval

New York, April 27 (AP)—The Municipal Board of Estimate today approved the highest executive budget in the city's history, $119,454,294. It was the third billion dollar budget in the city's history. The budget for 1949-50 now goes to the City Council which may reduce it by a May 22 deadline. The council has no power to vote increases.

Former College Man Was in 'Tomb' 10 Years; Exile Voluntary

New York, April 27 (AP)—A shaggy-bearded man of 33, dug out after ten years of fantastic solitude in a dank cubbyhole, yearned to return to the tomb-like cubicle in which his mother sealed him when war broke out.

Shoeless, filthy, his clothes in rags, Paul Makushak, one-time college student, stood on wobbly legs and blinked into the unaccustomed glare of electric lights. "I liked it in there," he said. "I'd like to go back. I don't care about the outside world." Police took him to a hospital.

The man told a strange story of voluntary exile since 1939—when his mother sealed him off from the world with a wall of wood and plaster at the outbreak of World War 2.

Makushak spent the 10 years in a tiny, walled-in cubicle built in the corner of a lit third floor bedroom in a brownstone house in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn.

His father, who runs a tailor shop in the same building, said he never knew the man was imprisoned in the house.

The cubicle, about three feet wide and five feet long, scarcely big enough to hold Makushak when he stretched on the floor to sleep—had been devised, police said, because his mother presumably wanted him to escape being drafted.

Makushak, however, was vague about the war.

"The draft," he replied to questioning by Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald. "I don't know about the draft. That was in 1917, wasn't it?"

He said he didn't "believe in violence" and added "I don't know" when asked if he would have gone in the army.

The story of Makushak's imprisonment came to the attention of police last night after the mother, 58-year-old Mrs. Anna Makushak, entered a hospital.

She asked a neighborhood woman to go and care for her son—whose only contact with the world was a hole in the top of his tomb, through which he was fed.

The neighbor, unidentified, told police about him.

With crowbars, police bashed down the thin plaster wall that

Sheriff Reports Garbage Tossers Will Be Penalized

A practice of throwing garbage and other refuse along highways is to be brought to a halt, Sheriff George Smith said today.

Persons who are found dumping garbage and other refuse on public highways or in other manner violating the provisions of Section 1754 of the Health Law which prohibits scattering refuse along highways, will be prosecuted.

Sheriff Smith stated he had received numerous complaints of refuse being thrown along highways from passing cars, resulting in a most unsatisfactory situation.

"The Board of Supervisors has appropriated a considerable sum of money to advertise the beauties of this area, and certainly the landscape is not enhanced by the throwing of refuse along our highways," said Sheriff Smith.

Under Section 1754 a person who throws or causes to be thrown refuse along a highway may be arrested and dealt with severely.

Inquiry Is Asked

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Republican senators today called for a detailed inquiry into the reasons for Secretary of the Navy Sullivan's resignation.

Sullivan quit yesterday with a blast at Secretary of Defense Johnson for halting construction of the U. S. S. United States, which would have been the world's largest aircraft carrier. While Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee chalked up the matter as a "fiasco incident," C.O.P. committee members said they thought the group should dig deeper into the dispute.

Identified

The Federal Bureau of Investigation identified Mrs. George Hetenyi (above), 26, of Buffalo, N. Y., as the woman whose bullet-pierced body was found floating in the Genesee river of up-state New York April 23. She is the former Joan G. R. Gareis, of Oakland, Calif. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gareis, of Oakland, said their daughter had been living recently at the Buffalo address with Hetenyi, her second husband, and their two children, Diana, 3, and Paul, 8.

Clergyman Faces Mystery Man in His Wife's Death

The Rev. George Hetenyi, 40, Taken to Rochester; Body Is Found in Genesee

Rochester, N. Y., April 27 (AP)—The Rev. George Hetenyi was confronted early today with a mystery man—authorities described as a witness in the pistol slaying of the clergyman's wife.

Hetenyi was returned to his cell after the midnight meeting.

The district attorney's office declined to identify the other man, who was released.

Earlier, the prosecutor's office reported a .25 caliber bullet matching two slugs taken from the young mother's body had been extracted from a door of the family car.

Assistant District Attorney Clarence Henry said stains in the car were being analyzed to determine if they were blood.

Hetenyi, 40, who said before a state Supreme Court justice yesterday that "I didn't kill my wife," is held as a material witness.

Justice Daniel J. O'Mara set bail at $50,000 on the recommendation of District Attorney Anthony Micelli.

The bullet-riddled body of the Hungarian-born clergyman's wife, the former Joan G. R. Gareis, 25, of Oakland, Calif., was fished from the Genesee river near here last Saturday. Identification was made through F. B. I. fingerprint records.

Hetenyi brought her yesterday morning from the couple's home at Amherst, a Buffalo suburb, refused at first to look at the woman's body.

Later Hetenyi viewed the body and confirmed the identification. He then prayed silently over the body.

He told investigators he had last seen his wife Friday night when he took her to a psychiatrist in Buffalo and returned with her to their Amherst apartment.

Skinner quoted Hetenyi as saying he knew nothing of her activities after that but that she had disappeared for periods of three or four days on previous occasions.

Hetenyi, who came to this country in 1938 and the former school teacher were married three years ago at Oakland.

Their two children, Dian, 3, and Paul, eight months, are with Hetenyi's 70-year-old mother in Buffalo.

Hetenyi has served as a supply pastor in western New York Episcopal churches.

Amherst police said yesterday they had received calls to the Hetenyi home as late as April 16 when, Patrolman Floyd Klein reported, Mrs. Hetenyi told him her husband had chased her out.

Klein said Mrs. Hetenyi had told him then she was "considering a divorce."

Hallinan Says Water, Sewer Lines Adequate Without Strain

Three points in a resolution by Fourth Ward Alderman John Buboltz, (D), and two of seven resolutions by Twelfth Ward Alderman James E. Martin (R) on the city's proposed housing project were vetoed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk yesterday.

Proposals in the resolutions were discussed at a meeting of the Kingston Housing Authority and councilmen last night and Arthur A. Davis, Jr., head of the authority, said today a list of answers to the questions aired last night would be prepared and filed with the city clerk.

The mayor vetoed a resolution by Alderman Martin calling for a meeting of the Common Council and housing authority "for the first time," and another in which the alderman asked that each member of the council be furnished a copy of the loan application.

A letter on the mayor's veto action explained that opportunity for such a meeting was offered April 14, and that the meeting proposed by the alderman would not be one "for the first time."

Available to All

The mayor explained the request for copies of the loan application and said it was submitted to the council on April 5 and has been available in the city clerk's office in full detail including its 21 pages, maps and diagrams.

The mayor said he approved most of the Buboltz resolution, but disapproved Section 4 asking for "a copy of the application of the Housing Authority to the State Housing Authority under which approval for the proposed project was obtained," and Sections 8 and 9.

He disapproved Part 8 asking for "The number of families, who will be removed as a result of the proposed demolition, setting forth in detail." This was characterized by a note in parenthesis as "discriminatory and prejudicial."

Part 9 was disapproved, he said, in a similar note, because this "cannot be determined until the project is completed and tenants selected."

This, in the resolution, asked for the number and detailed information on children "who will be housed in said proposed development."

The basis for the mayor's veto of Part 4 of the Buboltz resolution (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

The estate of the late Mrs. Annie R. Fisher of West Park, Esopus, was appraised here Tuesday by the State Transfer Tax Department at a net value of $210,066.

Mrs. Fisher, the widow of Louis G. Fisher, died on December 28, 1936. She made specific bequests from her estate of about $75,000, including a $1,500 legacy to a cousin, Harold V. Story of Ulster Park. The rest of the estate goes to New York charities.

Medieval suits of armor ranged in weight from 25 pounds to 100 pounds.

Business Men . . .

further extension of time.

The group then voted to send a letter to the senator.

Rafalowsky Speaks

After Case announced the purpose of the meeting, Rafalowsky said, he spoke not only for himself, but for all concerned. Properly adjusted officers generally, he said, had not been satisfactory, but it depended largely on the individual to reject or accept. He had asked state men in the February meeting, he said, whether they would consider present-day values, and was told they would, but would also apply "horse sense."

A main purpose of the meeting, however, he said, was the state's official notice "only last week" to vacate properties by May 31. He said he had no prejudice against the state men because they were sent "by superiors from the state, but he stressed that the tenants and property holders were unable to move in the time allotted.

Rafalowsky suggested that the association make an attempt to win an extension of time through a resolution to the state, Common Council and Senator Wicks, and also proposed that the association hire an attorney.

'Given Plenty of Time'

Case then said he had talked recently with Gerald L. Flewelling, the state's senior land and claims adjuster, and was informed that the state had given the tenants and property holders plenty of time and had told them in February to start looking for places. Flewelling indicated he said, that: "We can write until we are blue in the face and will not do any good."

Michael Arace then said he had written the state a letter and was informed that the people of the area would be given at least three months. He was led to understand also he said, that final notice would be given after advertisement for bids. He urged the association to ask for an extension of 90 days.

When Arace finished, Mrs. Elmendorf shouted with emphasis from the rear of the room: "Why are you putting people out of their homes? I am one that is not moving for New York state or anybody else. I've got children to raise and I'm not giving up the kids for nothing . . . the state, the city or the railroad. I won't be put out on the street for nobody. They're my kids and I won't give up. This is America, and I pay rent in American money, and nobody is going to put my kids on the street. I want to see anybody big enough to put me out and that goes for Governor Dewey or anybody else."

Before finishing most of her talk, Mrs. Elmendorf, tossed before Case at the presiding table, the notice which she had received from the state.

Alfred Farrell, of Thomas street, attempted to be heard on a similar protest, and Case then asked if he was a member of the association. He said he was not, and Case then suggested that he leave the meeting.

"We are trying to straighten this out," Case then said to Mrs.

Elmendorf, and he explained the purpose of the meeting. A representative from the state was expected to attend the session, he said, but was unable to attend.

"Why are they not here?" Mrs. Elmendorf asked, and someone then said: "That's what we'd like to know."

Would Try for 6 Months

Leo Arace then proposed an attempt to win an extension of six months. He was not sure if the project should be started, he said, but he believed an extension should be allowed, and "I'm willing to back this up and fight it."

Michael Arace then said that he had given all eviction notices to his attorney, and he believed that the state should give him some consideration that he would not be forced to give his tenants.

Then after another proposal to hire an attorney Rafalowsky then suggested hearing from Attorney Cook, who proposed the letter to Senator Wicks. The attorney indicated during his talk that the Hotel Ulster at Broadway and Railroad avenue, in which he has personal interests, was not under the building known as Conkey Hall, next door to the hotel on Railroad avenue.

Case said at one point in the discussion that he had learned it was possible for the state to start demolishing the buildings by June 1, and Leo Arace then emphasized: "If nobody says anything now, they'll go right ahead."

Rafalowsky then said he wanted to go on record at the meeting as not opposing the state, and "the only thing the meeting is for is an extension of time." A letter of thanks to Attorney Cook was then suggested.

Will Talk Regrading

The association voted before adjourning to name a committee to see Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and city officials on a plan for reggrading the project area after construction is finished.

Case said it had been called to his attention that the state was not obliged to grade the areas where buildings are to be razed. William J. O'Reilly, of O'Reilly's Office Equipment, 530 Broadway, then said an engineer had given him the impression that the grading of properties would not be done as part of the project and this "will be an eyesore in the city" unless something is done.

The association voted to send a letter of thanks to Attorney Cook.

Mrs. Elmendorf said, before the session adjourned, that she is a tenant in the building of Photograph Leo Bruckheimer, 569 Broadway, who, it was said, has reached an agreement with the state.

Sewer, Water Adequate

Answers to the Buboltz proposals were given at last night's session of the authority and councilmen, and a letter from City Engineer Arthur Hallman answered one outstanding question by stating in detail that the sewer and water systems in the proposed project area were adequate.

Only part of the questions in the Martin resolutions were answered because the aldermen announced that it was necessary for him to leave the session due to a previous appointment.

George E. Yerry, Jr., and George L. Chilson, members of the housing authority, and Chairman Davis, attended the session. Present also were Corporation Counsel James G. Connolly, City Clerk Bernhard S. Kramer, Eighth Ward Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, chairman of the Finance Ways and Means Committee of the Common Council, other members of the committee, and all aldermen except Charles Cole, 13th Ward, and Peter F. Simpson, Sixth Ward.

Alderman Bruck conducted the session and reviewed the questions in the Buboltz and Martin resolutions for discussion.

Request Is Denied

Mayor Newkirk also included in his veto letter of yesterday, his disapproval of the resolution by Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, asking for the use of the No. 8 School yard as a playground.

The letter explained that the Board of Public Works with the cooperation of the Board of Education had previously made available the former Sahler Sanitarium grounds for a playground and that the area was only four blocks from School No. 8.

No funds had been made available, he said, for creating the playground at School No. 8, and he suggested that the Common Council appoint a committee to meet with the Board of Education to discuss the advisability and necessity for using school yards of the city as playgrounds.

5 doctors prove

this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop.

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did so. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pils. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. That's nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for your bowels.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pils "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural power.

Further—Carter's Pils contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pils . . . and be regular naturally.

When you're overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pils temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pils at any drugstore for 35¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

CHECKING VEHICLES
A concentrated, state-wide campaign of motorists to voluntarily check their vehicles against potentially hazardous defects during the month of May has been announced by Thomas W. Ryan, state safety director. Enjoying the cooperation of virtually every governmental and civic group, the drive is expected to be the most comprehensive of its kind ever undertaken in the state.

More than sixteen per cent of our fatal accidents can be attributed to motor vehicle defects. It is the duty and obligation of every motorist to have his automobile checked periodically to avoid such hazards not only to himself but also to others on the road.

The basic thought behind the plan, the director points out, is to alert the people of the state to the importance of maintaining automobiles in tip-top mechanical condition as a means of preventing motor vehicle accidents.

The cooperation of every interested organization in the state, both on a local and a state-wide level, is being sought in the drive to make the state's highways safer.

Emphasis in this voluntary vehicle check will enter upon the operating condition of the following: brakes, headlights, stop and tail lights, tires, windshield wipers, muffler, steering mechanism, glass, horn and rear view mirror.

A drive having for its sole purpose the protection of the lives of all motorists and their loved ones should receive the wholehearted support of everyone.

SAVING BASEBALL

If it is true that organized baseball is threatened by the court attack now being made against its contract practices, it may yet be saved. Representatives Albert S. Herlong, Jr., of Florida and Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas have introduced a bill which may save the sport's bacon if the courts throw out the reserve clause of the standard player's contract.

Suits pending in the federal courts challenge the legality of the provision in baseball contracts binding a player to remain with his original club until it releases or otherwise disposes of him. The idea is to prevent wealthy clubs from buying up the best talent, just as the large cities do with symphony orchestras. In 1922 the Supreme Court declined to interfere, saying that baseball was not interstate commerce. Since then the courts have tended to class many transactions as interstate commerce which were formerly exempted, and in this case might justify a reversal by the widespread use of radio and television for baseball games.

The Herlong-Mills bill would specifically exempt organized professional sport from the operation of the anti-trust laws. Its enactment would not affect the pending suits, but might make it possible to relocate the stable door before too many horses got loose. On the whole, ball players have not grumbled against the reserve clause, realizing that it means their bread and butter. If the courts declare the clause restrains trade, there will be strong pressure to pass something on the order of the Herlong-Mills bill.

CAMERA CLUBS

The passing of the sixty-fifth anniversary of the Camera Club of New York City points up a period which has witnessed remarkable progress in the field of photography.

Much of this progress has resulted from the work of members of camera clubs. Experiments leading to the development of the wirephoto process of transmitting pictures by wire were made in the laboratories of the New York club, and one of its members made the first newsreel.

Aside from such technical improvements in photography, the thousands of camera clubs which have sprung up all over the country have paid big dividends to their members, and to everyone who likes pictures. Every photography contest brings out hundreds of fine prints, the work of enthusiastic amateurs. Photography exhibits bring to public notice beautiful examples resulting from successful experiment with

'These Days'

'Home of the Brave'

I don't want to see a motion picture on "Anti-Negro Bitterness and Hate." I have been asked to see it and I won't go. Maybe I am bigoted on the subject, but I feel that all these grandiose efforts to prove that there are human beings who are prejudiced against other human beings only characterize the obvious and sly ill-will among those who have no bitterness in their hearts or shows love of man for man, that cultivates the hatred in their minds. A motion picture that brotherhood of man, that allays strife and contention, is more to my liking and undoubtedly a more correct appraisal of the American character.

This particular production is explained in its publicity as follows: "At the time—before other films like 'Crossfire' and 'Gentleman's Agreement'—Kramer had found it impossible to get production financing for a story with anti-Semitism as its theme. Some months ago Kramer revived the idea, and in a moment of inspiration changed the central character from a Jew to a Negro, and started to prepare a script in cooperation with screenwriter Carl Foreman and Director Mark Robson, both of whom were deeply involved in completing for him his already acclaimed hit 'Champion,' starring Kirk Douglas.

"Actually," Kramer stated, "the theme of 'Home of the Brave' remained unchanged, for the basic conflict was the same. As a matter of fact, I never read or saw 'Gentleman's Agreement' or 'Crossfire.' Maybe I am an ostrich. Maybe I am an escapist. Maybe I prefer pleasant to unpleasant people. Maybe I only like entertainment in movies and not social significance. But I cannot help asking myself the question: 'Suppose it were just the opposite?' For instance, in this picture, 'Home of the Brave,' the heroic character is a Negro and the scoundrel is a white man. Well, suppose it were just the opposite? Suppose the heroic character were the white man and the scoundrel the Negro? It would be the same story. Or better still, suppose both were heroic characters and neither was a scoundrel—it would be an even better story. I actually twisted the characters to see how the story would come out and it makes no difference at all, because there are just and unjust men everywhere and in moments of emotional tension, we all act queerly anyway."

In a word, as I read the material sent to me, I can see no advantage to the story in making a white military officer the villain, except that the author wanted to have a villain and he switched his story from a Jewish to a Negro hero because anti-Semitism is not as salable a ware as anti-Negroism at the moment. That is evident in the publicity announcement in which this is called "inspiration."

Once in the heat of discussion with a professional in the field of anti-religious, anti-racial bigotry, I suggested that those who live by the sword and con of these subjects organize a union to keep hatred and bitterness from dying and disappearing, so that they could keep at their jobs. I do not find among the white leadership of this country any serious or widespread "bitterness and hate, for Negroes." I do not find a white counterpart for Paul Robeson. However, there are vast differences of opinion in the sociology of the Negro problem. Men of good-will approach that problem with kindness in their hearts and decency in their intentions. Maybe they find no solutions. Maybe they find solutions that are unacceptable. Maybe they are too swift or too slow. But there is no bitterness or hatred.

Why not obliterate the nightmare that Hitler let loose upon us? Why not devote ourselves to the reconstruction of a world of kindness of all human relations, of the association of man and man as individuals, not as congregations devoted to the prolongation of distorted attitudes? Think back to the world in which you actually lived before 1930—we were not preoccupied with so much until this and that.

We are Americans—with all our faults, failings, prejudices and sweetness. Let us unite as Americans to preserve our civilization, to improve it by a greater justice, but not to lose it by excesses in speed. (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOW BACK PAIN AND SCIATICA

Several years ago I spent some time at the outdoor clinics, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

I was particularly interested in low back pain and sciatica, at least 20 to 25 cases presenting themselves daily. In the majority of cases, the patient gave a history of lifting a heavy box, or of immediately, or within a few hours, having pain in the lower back, hip, and down the back of one leg (sciatica). The treatment consisted of strapping the sacroiliac joint tightly, the patient measured for a belt which was applied on his return a week later.

However, pain in the lower back with sciatica is not always caused by lifting or by a fall or misstep, so that physicians today try to study each case before prescribing permanent treatment. It is estimated that at least two of every three of these cases are caused by infection—leth, tonsils, gall bladder.

One of the established facts about low back pain and sciatica is that where the symptoms are worse when the patient is on his feet, injury should be suspected. Of course, injury and infection could both be present.

In the "British Journal of Surgery," Drs. M. A. Falconer, McGehee, and J. Begg, after a review of 100 consecutive cases on which operations had been performed for low back pain believed caused by a protruding disk, state that while all such cases cannot be completely cured, the results obtained depend upon the good judgment of the surgeon during the operation.

These physicians suggest that all patients with severe sciatica and low back pain should be put to bed for one month. Investigation during this month may show the presence of a growth or tumor on the spine, the other cases usually have the protruding disk.

The three constant signs of a protruding disk are pain on coughing, inability to raise the leg with the knee straight, and rigidity or stiffness of the spine.

After the operation, exercises should be taken to straighten the muscles in the back that hold the spine erect. One simple exercise is lying on the abdomen and trying to bring the head and heels together, the knees kept straight. This should be done several times night and morning.

Seems to Be a Poor Time to Make a Call

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Drew Pearson

Washington—It wasn't officially recorded, but New Hampshire's Senator Styles Bridges recently struck a sharp blow at the bipartisan foreign policy by demanding that the G.O.P. take its own stand on foreign affairs—particularly in China.

He shot the challenge squarely at Michigan's Senator Arthur Vandenberg, the Mr. Big of the bipartisan foreign policy, during a secret meeting of the Republican Policy Committee.

The debate got so heated that at one point Vandenberg shouted: "Now, this is within these four walls. There aren't many here, and if this appears in Drew Pearson's column, I won't have too many to check with."

However, here is the story of what happened at the secret meeting. Bridges called upon the Republicans to stop voting "Aye" to everything the administration does and to focus a "little sunlight on the mistakes and questionable policies" of the Democrats.

He charged that China was being forfeited to the Communists and he urged Vandenberg to take a stand on this and demand a review of our China policy. When America realizes its mistake, Bridges argued, then the Republicans could pin the blame upon the Democrats.

Vandenberg retorted sharply that it was easier for Bridges to snipe against our foreign policy because he didn't have the responsibility as G.O.P. foreign policy spokesman. Vandenberg admitted that the picture is dark for the Chinese anti-Communists, but argued that it was too late to interfere without jeopardizing the chances of salvaging what is left.

By intervening now, the United States wouldn't save China, but might endanger future relations, Vandenberg argued. He also pointed out that the corrupt governing clique that runs the central government soaks up most

U. S. aid intended for the Chinese people.

Pro-Communist Diplomats?

Bridges snapped back that members of the State Department were sabotaging our foreign policy and demanded that the pro-Communists be flushed out of the service.

At this, Massachusetts' Jean Leverett Saitonstall raised a cautioning hand, suggested it was unfair to question the motives of diplomatic personnel.

"If you had a general who commanded an army and lost a battle through incompetence, you would remove him," Saitonstall said. "If he lost by conspiring with the enemy, you would court-martial and probably shoot him. But the State Department loses country after country and all you do is promote them."

Vandenberg said he didn't know of any pro-Communists in the State Department. Ohio's Senator Robert Taft suggested, however, that the people underneath are often biased and don't give the people on top a true picture.

Bricker Champions Negro?

Ohio's statuesque Senator John Bricker has been posing as the great champion of the Negro by demanding that segregation be outlawed in all public housing projects.

But what the public didn't realize is that Bricker toned down his own anti-segregation amendment, the minute it conflicted with the real estate lobby.

Bricker's original anti-segregation amendment would have cut off federal funds, including FEHA loans, for any segregated housing project. But when the real estate boys saw this, they realized Bricker would cut off one of their most lucrative sources of money—loans from the Federal Housing Administration. So they hotfooted it to Bricker's office and had him change his amendment so that it abolished segregation for public housing, but not FEHA-financed housing.

Note—Bricker's real motive was to inject civil rights into the housing debate so it would turn the Southern vote against public housing.

Maldredy Told

Only one important committee hearing at this session of Congress has been chairmanned by a Republican—Senator Edwin of Connecticut who presides over the Maldredy told investigation. Baldwin is one of the ablest and most fair-minded members of the Senate, but there is an interesting backstage story behind his appointment.

It results from the fact that Maryland's dapper Senator Tydings has been chairmanned by a Republican—Senator Edwin of Connecticut who presides over the Maldredy told investigation. Baldwin is one of the ablest and most fair-minded members of the Senate, but there is an interesting backstage story behind his appointment.

Tydings appeared to believe that American officers were justified in using brutality and torture to wring confessions from ex-German Storm Troopers who allegedly took part in the Malmeldy massacres during the Battle of the Bulge. Tydings also claimed jurisdiction for his armed service committee—though only after Hoey had ordered his special investigation committee to look into the case. Previously, Tydings had flatly refused to investigate; then changed his mind after learning of Hoey's interest.

Fearing that Tydings would whitewash the brass hats, Hoey suggested turning the investigation over to a joint committee, made up of members from the Armed Services, Judiciary and Expenditures Committee.

This started talks between the two but were still proceeding when suddenly Tydings pulled a surprise announcement that his committee would go ahead with its own investigation, and he appointed Senator Baldwin, Republican, to head the probe.

The payoff is that Baldwin's law partner, Dwight F. Fenton, helped the army prosecute the Malmeldy defendants.

Truman Sore At Israel

President Truman, who frequently blows hot and cold over Palestine, has given a private spanking to the new republic of Israel. He is boiling mad at the Israeli government for what he considers an insult to the American ambassador to Israel, James G. McDonald.

McDonald reported to the President that during a recent interview with Israeli Foreign Minister, Moshe Shertok, the minister spoke disparagingly of American aid to Israel. This made Truman so mad he ordered the U. S. representative to the United Nations, Warren Austin, not to object when the United Nations pigeonholed Israel's application for U. N. membership.

Warren's silence shocked the Israeli because they were counting on wheeled American support for their cause. As a result, President Weizmann is trying to patch things up during personal conferences with President Truman.

Russian Move Has Placed Western Allies on Spot as Regards German Situation
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 27—Russia has made an adroit move. The western allies are put on the spot—they either must halt their reorganization of the German state and engage in a prolonged discussion with the Russians or else be placed in the position of going ahead with the development of their three-zone German plan without taking into account the Russian view.

The Moscow government evidently became sufficiently sensitive to world opinion to realize that the continuance of the Berlin blockade was in itself a form of coercion and that the allies were beginning to persuade the world that Russia was an obstructionist in world affairs.

The Russians have very pointedly changed their position. They no longer place any conditions upon the lifting of the blockade except the setting of a date for a meeting of the foreign ministers and instead give the impression that they are abandoning coercive measures simultaneously with the termination by the allies of their counter-blockade. Undoubtedly in the Russian press it will all be described as a mutually satisfactory ending of an unpleasant episode.

But so far as future steps are concerned, the Soviets have considerably transformed the whole diplomatic situation. In the first place, the Russians have succeeded in bringing a four-power conference at which an over-all settlement of German problems will have to be discussed.

This means that whatever plans the allies may have had for a separate government in the three zones will be complicated now by Russian suggestions that all powers withdraw their troops from German territory. The Russians will vie with the western allies in seeking the support of German public opinion. The Russians now realize that if they are ever to communicate Germany, they must be ready to secure for the Germans an independent position as a nation. It remains to be seen whether the western allies are prepared to withdraw all controls from Germany and let the Germans handle their own affairs.

The whole problem presents an opportunity for further bickering and lengthy discussions. There is no certainty that the Russians—if the four-power conference ends in a deadlock—will not start a new blockade in some other place. The fact that Russia now has virtual control of the foreign policy of Communist China and that there are other areas, like Iran, which afford an opportunity to needle and harass the Allies may make it a bit premature to assume that the armament program can safely be reduced.

The Russian gesture toward peace comes at a time when the North Atlantic Pact and the armament agreement to implement it are before the Congress of the United States. The Russians may well claim that neither of these measures is necessary now for defense purposes. It could be, of course, that the Russians are striving to influence American psychology. This may account for the caution expressed by the Department of State in its formal announcement reviewing the circumstances that have led up to the proposals by Russia to terminate the Berlin blockade if only a date is set by the Allies for a meeting of the council of foreign ministers.

Officials of the Department of State, conscious of previous misunderstandings with Moscow that grew out of so-called "details," have been reluctant to accept at face value the statements made by the Russian news agencies that there are no conditions whatsoever attached to the lifting of the blockade except the mere setting of a date for the foreign ministers' meeting. If indeed it turns out that the Russians have no strings tied to their offer, it can only mean that the Soviet government intends to put the whole weight of its propaganda behind the declaration that the Russians have manifested their desire for peace and are therefore entitled to an acceptance of some of their proposals with respect to Germany, especially a higher share of reparations than the Allies have been willing to grant.

There is no doubt that the Russians have learned in the last several months that no progress could be made in diplomacy as long as the blockade was continued. They are, therefore, ready now to resume conversations on the major subjects, though this does not in any way indicate whether or not the Soviets have altered their position on basic questions affecting a German and Austrian settlement. Do You Remember
by SOPHIE MILLER

A lady from Dansville, N. Y., was interested in the April 9 item, she writes: "I remember Minnie, the steam yacht, which ran between Eddyville and Creek Locks. Have such pleasant memories of those days and often wondered why it was never mentioned before. I lived at Creek Locks from a young child until in my early teens. I cannot remember 'Minnie' towing the canal boats, but do remember the 'Sammy Cornell' a large tug boat, which had the pilot-house and smoke stack removed to get through the locks to low canal boats during a freshet in Creek Locks. The Minnie used to make daily trips from Eddyville to Creek Locks from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sunday afternoon, first trip up at 1:30 p. m. It was a lovely little yacht with seats on the upper deck, and nice awnings to protect the passengers from the sun. What a pleasant sail up the creek through the Greenkills and Narrows to Creek Locks. Seems like yesterday, although it was many years ago. Cannot recall exact date when the Minnie ceased to run, perhaps some time around 1890 or 1892.

Minnie's landing at Eddyville was in Delaware and Hudson Welch Locks. Only during the freshet she landed above the Grand Lock in the creek. Also remember well the owner of Minnie, Frank Haber, who also was engineer of the yacht. His three sons, Arthur, Edward and Frank, also acted as pilot at different times.

"The Minnie carried many people to our little town. One of my early school teachers, commuted during some of her time, while teaching there, and living at Eddyville. She was Miss Bridget Solem, whose family ran a store at Eddyville. Speaking of school teachers, my remembrance Miss Mary Weston, also her sister, Miss Elizabeth Freston, and some of the fine men who taught there, the late Dr. W. E. Little, John Myers, Abram Devo, who later became professor at Clarck, N. Y. George Terwilliger of High Falls, James Jenkins, the late Judge Jenkins of Kingston, Am. resident of upstate now for about 10 years, but still am very much interested in my old home town." Signed Maude Tilkin Griswold.

No doubt Mrs. Griswold would be interested to read all the details of "The Roundout and Its Canals" by Leon Selzer, that little booklet which was reprinted from New York History in 1941. Wish I could learn more about the folks of those days, like Johnny Feldman, the left-handed barber and shoe-maker who had his place above Diamond's store, or Pat Flaxey, who was known as the laziest man on the canal. He never steered his boat if he could help it. Pat had a beautiful baritone voice, and the folks along the canal could hear him sing all the way down the line. The good old days of 1872 when 1,000,000 tons of coal came down to Udewater.

A suit of armor in the Metropolitan Museum of Art is made of 215 steel plates held together by 1,400 rivets and 85 straps.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

For my travelers' checks, Rio de Janeiro is right there with Paris when it comes to knocking your eyes into the centerfield bleachers. It's as primp and preeny a city as FitzPatrick ever traveled, and when I first saw it from the Pan-Am airplane on the morning of January 9th, I got the impression that a lot of icing had dripped down from Sugar Loaf Mountain.

During our week's stay in the capital of Coffee Land, I got a good stuck on its scenery and citizens—the 21st Century skyscrapers from Oscar Niemayer's drafting board which throw the light right back at the sun, the hill huts of the gypsies a few random yards away, the ebony-eyed babes who put the SA in S.A., and the dozens of friendly folk who showed us around and wouldn't take thanks for an answer. But over and beyond all this, I shall always remember Rio as the town where, for the first time in ten years of married life, I got a little respect from my missus.

Before I blueprint this achievement, however, let me tell you about a samba session and the reason Eleanor didn't talk to me for 48 hours.

On our second evening in town, we were the guests of Aloysio de Salles at a beautifully run boite called the Vogue which features a samba orchestra. We arrived at 8 that evening and proprietor Max Stukart seated us at a table a demitasse cup away from the bandstand, and before Eleanor could even look at the menu, a gent who was all muscles and mustache piloted her out to the dance floor where, for the next hour, I watched my girl do her own fantastic version of the light fantastic.

I sat and sizzled but said nothing—after all, a gal in our set doesn't get down Sugar Loaf way very often and this was baby's night to howl.

But four hours and four aspirins later, I had had enough. For one thing, I've been too busy putting on dance shows to learn how to dance and, for another, I've been around liquor too long to have any yen for it. And worst of all, the drum-banging was driving me nuts—a samba band, as you know, is a triphammer that has given birth to a lot of little triphammers.

But still I said nothing although, by the time 3 a. m. rolled around, I was feeling like the last act of "Emperor Jones." Eleanor was still out on the floor dancing, her eyes as bright as thousand-watt bulbs.

At 5 a. m. I couldn't take it any longer. Sunlight was beginning to filter through the cabaret shutters and my ears had had enough of Tympani Alley.

"What say we go home?" I said to the missus.

My wife looked at me as if I had suggested broiling a child for dinner.

"Killjoy!" she snapped. "Everytime I start having a little fun, you want to go home."

"Be fair," I said. "You've been derelicting for nine hours—an hour longer than the longest union day."

"Okay, killjoy," said Eleanor, and we went home. But for the next two days she didn't talk to me and, if I hadn't proved it by living with her, there'd have been no living with her....

But to get back to the last sentence of the second paragraph—the one about getting a little respect from the missus.

During the ten years of our marriage, Eleanor has been about as impressed with me as Joe Louis is impressed by Mickey Rooney. At the office when I holler at the intercom system, strong men spring to attention, but at home, like a million other guys, I'm only the nuisance who smucks up the carpet with cigarette ashes. But, brother, in Rio it was different.

The night before we left for Buenos Aires, I suggested to Ben Sirotsky, a spritely newspaperman-about-town, that I'd like to see something of Rio's seamier and less seemly side—its nickel dancehalls and dives. And so, starting at midnight, Ben took us on a post-graduate Cook's tour that wound up at Nellie's Castle, a spot which, according to the neighbors, was no better than it should be. And when I say "castle," I'm not kidding—it had more turrets and gargoyles than Orson Welles ever nightmared, and it was floodlighted like the opening night of a Hollywood service station.

Sirotsky introduced me to Nellie's sweet man, and when he heard my name, his mouth opened like a steam shovel. "We are deeply honored, Mr. Rose," he said, "and the champagne's on the house."

I looked over at Eleanor and I could see that this wov of a welcome and had made quite an impression on her.

A few minutes later we were seated in a plushy parlor and a dozen of the top "hostesses" had joined our table.

"I used to play the tambourine for Carmen Miranda," said the proprietor. "Perhaps you would like me to dance for you."

He danced, and again I could see a what's-going-on-here look in Eleanor's eyes.

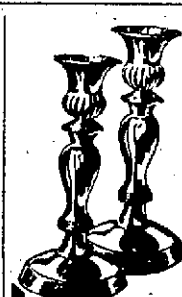

Then came the capper. The proprietor brought a beautiful little blonde over to the table and said, "The Atom Bomb wants to meet you."

"Could I please have your autograph?" said the lady. "I've been reading your pieces in the Portuguese edition of Readers Digest. Well, I would have given it to her in blood if I'd had any handy. On the way home I turned to Eleanor and stuck both my chins out.

"Seven thousand miles from home," I said forcefully, "the champagne's on the house, the proprietor does a tambourine dance for me, and the Atom Bomb asks for my autograph. From now on, if I don't get a little respect around the house, I'm going to hit you right on top of your pointy head."

"Yes, Daddy," said Eleanor. (Copyright, 1949 by Billy Rose) (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Broadway Crossing Story

(This is the third in a series of articles on the Broadway crossing which is scheduled for elimination by the State Public Works Department.)

PSC Orders Elimination

The Canfield plan for eliminating the Broadway crossing had been forgotten for nearly a decade before public interest in the proposal was again aroused. The next step came in 1928 when the Public Service Commission ordered the crossing eliminated by depressing the street "within the boundary of same."

The city appealed this order, but the decision of the commission was affirmed by itself and the Appellate Division of the Third Judicial Department, and little else was heard of the elimination proposal until 1935 when the Public Service Commission ordered the New York Central Railroad to prepare plans for eliminating the crossing by depressing the street within its bounds.

This plan consisted of a 38-foot underpass with 16-foot marginal roads. No property was to be acquired for this elimination except for an access road to the freight house.

The plan was strenuously opposed by local citizens, and the city requested that it be allowed to submit a new plan for the consideration of the commission.

A modified plan was prepared by the city based on a 48-foot underpass with 24-foot and 16-foot marginal roads, and the plan required acquisition of property on the south side of Broadway. In general it was similar to the Canfield plan, but it was shelved through a resolution of the Common Council which said that a railroad crossing of the city should be eliminated by depressing the tracks.

Helselman Is Hopeful

Mayor Conrad J. Helselman in his annual message to the Common Council in January, 1939, appeared hopeful that approval would be given on the plan which would eliminate major grade crossings in the city along with the one on Broadway.

The message said: "After the passage of many years of intermittent public interest and effort it looks as if in the near future, we will at least be rid of the principal railroad crossings of the city."

"Our administration has been pressing for action on the city's petition before the Public Service Commission for the elimination of the crossings by depressing the railroad tracks. Two public hearings have been held, and we have proved conclusively by our testimony that the crossings are dangerous, unsightly and costly, and interfere with our community life, and that the public interest demands their removal."

"As a result of a recent conference held with officials of the New York Central Railroad, the company agreed to co-operate with the city in preparing a plan of elimination. The preparation of this plan involves difficult engineering problems. A way must be found to depress the tracks, and permit the operation of the railroad and street traffic while the contractors are working, and without handicapping local industrial plants depending on switching movements. The plan now in preparation should be ready in several months. If approved by the city and state actual work should be started during the coming summer."

"The message stressed that 'The job, costing about $4,000,000, shall provide much needed work at good wages for many of our local men.'"

It explained further: "Should our present plans mature, a long battle at last will have been won, and the people of Kingston shall have cause to rejoice, and your honorable body (the Common Council) may well be proud to join with other members of the city government in a feeling of satisfaction in having brought viewer in a New York bank, is accused of obtaining the loans from other banks under an assumed name.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Schultz, a credit inter-

It is charged he represented himself as an employee of one of the Picciolas and that they corroborated this when the banks telephoned them at two offices they operated at 220 Fifth avenue. Hogan said the scheme was uncovered when Tochtermann tried the same thing and Mrs. Picciola failed to corroborate his story over the telephone.

Australian Industry Booms

London, 4/27—Australia's industry is undergoing the "most spectacular" expansion in the country's history, J. B. Todd, assistant trade commissioner for Australia in London says. He says the end of the war was followed by a "flood of overseas capital" into Australia. The development is particularly evident in the metal, machine, implement and conveyance group of industries where 732 companies have announced their intention of building new plants or expanding existing factories. Thirty-four of these firms are from the United States.

Better Meat on the Way

Lower corn prices are encouraging farmers and feed lot operators to fatten their steers. This improves quality as well as quantity. Better beefsteaks are on the way.

Those Wonderful Days

By FRANK TRIPP

How I wish my grandchildren could see fire horses dashing down the street, a gala old time circus parade, or even risk the dangers that hilarious Fourth of July celebrations brought. To me these things are memories of a romantic boyhood—and somehow overshadow modern ways.

Of course they mean little to those who never knew them. Would you who did like to go back with me a moment to that era of contentment which can never be again?

Before came gasoline pumpers, fire engines were run by steam. Their biggest bulk was an upright coal-fired boiler. Horses, usually the massive beauties, whirled them through the streets with smoke and sparks pouring from the stack and gongs clanging.

The sight of such equipage approaching is vivid in the memory of venerables who survive. No modern, self-propelled apparatus can approach the thrill of it.

And can you remember that the wild dash of a horse-drawn fire engine was the first flickering movie that you saw? It was in the Methodist Church, the crude show of a traveling exhibitor of the newfangled pictures which moved. Crude they were indeed, but realistic as could be.

I SAT in a chair on the aisle in abject awe as the display progressed. Then came the rush of fire horses in the distance. Head on, down the street they came—right straight at me. It was instinct to get out of the way.

I leaped from my chair, tipped it over and lunged across the long and colorful affair, tailed off by the "steam piano," which wheezed celerly spinster with neither love nor understanding of fire horses in her heart; much less a love for boys.

The pious sister screamed; some more sisters screamed, jumped from their seats and threatened panic in the erstwhile peaceful church parlors. The man stopped the machine and restored order.

Brother Parsons remarked that Sister Tripp should have known better than bring her brat to such a scientific demonstration. I always remembered that he called me a brat—and never liked him.

WHEN THE CIRCUS came to town all kids arose at four, after a sleepless vigil lest we miss unloading of the gaudy train. Then we followed the elephants to the show grounds and carried water for them; or lugged the blue board seats, to get a pass for the afternoon show.

The 10 o'clock parade, which often moved nearer 12, was a long and colorful affair, tailed off by the "steam piano," which wheezed silent in the middle of "After the Ball" out of steam.

Beside the procession on horseback rode an officious man, calling out the warning, "Hold your horses, the elephants are coming!" Back on the show grounds the side show goes merrily on; with Zip inside, Barnum's "what is it," who fooled all the world. Zip, beloved of all the troupe, who on his death bed told his sister, "Sarah, you know them people that laughs at me all the time. I see laughin' now. They dunno, Sarah, that when I die they's gonna see jest a plain nigger, wid a funny head."

THE PARADE returns. The gorgeous ladies atop the golden cages of leopards, lions and jaguars climb down from their pedestals. They throw off their spangled robes and sparkling crowns and yell, "Where in hell's the cook tent?"

Disillusioned we might be, but never lost our faith in the circus—and who wants to?

The afternoon performance is over too soon. We see it on our pass from a miserable seat, way off down at the end. We linger on the grounds late as we dare. For a nickel we'd run away from home to follow the massive caravan wherever it might lead.

Instead we sadly wander home. But we know better than to tell that we have seen the show. During an early supper we hear dad say, "Suppose I've got to go to that cursed circus—to take the boy." Oh yeah!

So we go and see the show again; as pop's alibi. Those wondrous, happy days.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, April 27—Some details of the work to be done in the reconstruction of the nearly 12 miles of road connecting Ellenville and Woodbourne released the past week by Bertram D. Tallamy, state superintendent of public works, indicate that most of the highway will follow a new alignment. The picturesque old road, which wound its way along the Beerkill creek for several miles after leaving the Ellenville village limits, was noted for its many curves, some of which presented bad traffic hazards for these days of the automobile. In addition it was in many places none too wide, with the bank of the creek uncomfortably close in spots. It is stated that the new road, with its 26-foot gravel roadway and nine-foot shoulders will be much straighter and with long easy grades. Three changes in the channel of the Beerkill creek are noted, one of them, more than a quarter of a mile long, between the present bridge near the property of Theodore Stockler and the bridge on the property of Henry Bennett. Older readers will remember these two points under other names. Stockler now owns the property for many years owned by the late W. Craft Wood, widely known millman in his day, who specialized in philosophical discussions—oftimes to the vexation of his waiting patrons. The property now for some years owned by Bennett, has had various owners. In early days fishermen who frequented the stream referred to the bridge at that point as the "Stevens bridge." The late Rev. Isaac Horcy owned the property for some time, then sold to the late Joseph Merritt, who resided there for a dozen years or so. The late Sam Jacobowitz also at one time owned the farm and it was during his ownership that the old farm house was destroyed by fire. The relocating of the road between these two bridges will do away with a sharp curve (it has been widened in recent years) that in times past has been the scene of numerous accidents.

Boy Scout leaders of the Rondout Valley district have completed plans for the annual spring camporee of the scouts of the district. With hope of avoiding the bad weather that has marked previous gatherings in May, it was decided to hold the camporee June 3, 4 and 5. Attending the recent district meeting were George B. Matthews, president of the Ulster-Greene Council, Val Morrow, scout commissioner and Scout Executive Myron Keefe.

Miss Bartha Demarest, assistant at the Ellenville Public Library, who has been a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital for over a week, is reported to be improving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stauffer and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hoerner, who have been spending the winter in Bradenton, Fla., returned home last week.

Hadley Depuy and Frank LeFever, Jr., attended a reunion at the Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, Saturday.

Mrs. George M. Beebe and sister, Miss Clara Markey, who have been spending the winter at the Wayside Inn, have returned to their home on Maple avenue.

Willard E. Peet, who recently completed a term of service with the air force, has taken a position at the Napanoch Institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schaffer of Schenectady have been spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward DuBois have moved from Monticello to apartments over the Whitaker store on Canal street. He is produce manager in the Victory store at Kerhonkson.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Kleindienst of New York have been visiting his brother, the Rev. Francis J. Kleindienst, rector of St. Andrew's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Gillette left Thursday for a week's vacation in Atlantic City.

Howard D. Richards is reported improving nicely following a serious operation April 8 at the Harkness Pavilion, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Harris, parents of Mrs. Harry N. Katz, are expected to leave their home in Scotland and sail on the New Amsterdam May 8, for an extended visit with Dr. and Mrs. Katz.

Franklin Cook has been appointed temporary instructor in carpentry at the Woodbourne Institution.

Attorney Philip A. Slutsky has returned from a two-weeks vacation in Florida. Also Mr. and Mrs. Jules Rosen, and the Misses Sylvia and Lucille Rosenberg are home from Miami Beach.

Mrs. Ethel Brundage, who has been ill for a couple of weeks has resumed her office duties.

At the last communication of Wawarsing Lodge, F. & A. M., the Master Mason degree was conferred upon a class of four candidates. Dean E. Wright, master of the lodge, presided during the evening. An appreciated feature of the work was the dramatization of the second section of the degree by the newly formed "Institution Craft Team," composed mostly of men connected with the work at the Napanoch Institution. There was an attendance of over 100, including visitors from Kingston, Middletown and other lodges. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the work.

Mrs. Kenneth Phillips, president of the Shawangunk Garden Club, accompanied by Mrs. William Douglas, Miss Marion Rose and Mrs. Henry Horton attended a meeting of garden clubs and a flower show at Hudson on Saturday.

Central Hudson Increases Rates

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today that the New York State Public Service Commission has granted it a three per cent electric rate increase which went into effect today. The new rate is on an interim basis and will be effective until October 31, 1949, by which date the Commission may have made a final decision in pending electric rate proceedings begun by the company on December 1, 1948.

Commenting on the rate increase, Ernest R. Acker, president of Central Hudson, said: "This electric rate increase is the first the company has asked for or received in 28 years. It will increase electric bills three cents for every dollar. For example, it will add three cents to an electric bill of $15 and 30 cents to an electric bill of $10. Although these additions are small in amount they will greatly assist Central Hudson in maintaining good electric service and will help provide the additional earnings necessary to attract new capital to finance the company's current expansion program."

Gubitchev Gets Freedom on Bond

New York, April 27 (AP)—A Soviet engineer facing an espionage trial has been freed in $100,000 bail posted by a Russian official, but is barred from docks and airports.

The defendant, Valentin A. Gubitchev, also must remain within the eleven-county southern federal district of New York. The first secretary of the Soviet Embassy, Lev S. Tolokonnikov, protested the government's demand for the ship and plane ban when he posted the bail late yesterday.

He finally agreed, and Gubitchev was released from the Federal House of Detention where he had been a prisoner since March 4.

Gubitchev, who was arrested with Miss Judith Coplon of Brooklyn, former Department of Justice employee, goes on trial here next Monday. Both were indicted here on espionage charges.

Gubitchev, suspended United Nations employee, has insisted he has diplomatic immunity, and refused to have a lawyer. The U. S. State Department and U. N. have rejected the immunity claim.

Miss Coplon now is on trial in Washington on an indictment charging her with taking government documents.

Gubitchev's bond was provided in Federal Court by a certified Russian Embassy check drawn on the Riggs National Bank in Washington, D. C.

John Paul Jones, early American naval hero, never became an American citizen.

F.B.I. Describes Trailing Woman

Washington, April 27 (AP)—F.B.I. agents told today how they "shadowed" Judith Coplon for nearly two months before they arrested her and Valentine A. Gubitchev, a Russian, on espionage conspiracy charges.

The F.B.I. men testified in the absence of the jury, in connection with a defense motion to prevent the government from using in Miss Coplon's trial papers they seized when she was arrested. The government says the papers contained secret government information.

Two agents, Robert R. Granville and T. Scott Miller, both conceded that Miss Coplon and Gubitchev were arrested without a warrant, and said they had no search warrant to seize her papers, described by the defense as "private." The government contention is that the officers, from previous close observation, had reasonable grounds to justify both arrest and search without formal papers.

Granville was the agent who made the actual arrest on Third avenue in New York March 4.

Three More Cases Settled in Court

Three additional cases were settled in Supreme Court today and an adjournment was taken to Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

A negligence action brought by Sam Hecht against Lila Hecht was settled. An action brought by Alvin Bonsteel, an infant, et al., against Eugene Shultis, negligence, was also settled.

During a recess a breach of contract action brought by Louis R. Sacks against Ben Sacks and Ethel Sacks was also settled.

Child Is Found

Mercersburg, Pa., April 27 (AP)—A three-year-old boy, who wandered away from his mother into the mountains, was found today after an all-night ordeal. A rescue worker discovered little Billy Clever in a snake-infested area, about three miles from his home on the edge of the Blue Ridge mountains. The spot is about two and a half miles from the Mason-Dixon line in south-central Pennsylvania. Billy was scratched and his clothes were torn but he did not seem to be suffering from exposure. He was taken home.

Man Is Free . . .

sealed Makushak off, and lifted him back into the world. He was dressed in heavy woolen clothing. A tattered grey stocking cap was pulled down over his thick, matted black hair.

His beard flared out around his face in four-inch curls, and he wore glasses that were held together with wire. Around his legs was a pair of thick stockings, pulled up over the knees. For trousers he wore a pair of long underwear that once had been white.

Knotted around his loins was a ripped and tattered grey sweater.

He said he never shaved for the decade he was in the cubbyhole, but occasionally clipped his whiskers with the pair of shears he kept there.

The tiny cubicle itself was littered with trash, empty cans, and rags. Several books on shorthand lay on a makeshift shelf. Makushak said he liked to practice shorthand to while away the time.

A Bible lay at arm's reach.

There was a dim light for reading.

On the floor was a pair of 1939 New York state auto license plates.

An old and battered radio was on the floor with a pair of earphones beside it.

Father Lives in Building

Makushak's father, Peter, 60, lives in the same building at 102 Nassau avenue. Operator of a little tailor and dry goods shop, the father said he last saw his son as a youth of 23, when Paul one day came into the tailor shop to fix a light socket.

The father said he and his wife had quarreled several times about the son. The wife, he said, told him Paul was in Canada.

"How was I to know where he was?" the father asked, shrugging his shoulders. "My wife and I were separated, like they say, and I never came upstairs for the past few years."

The father said he lives now inside the tailor shop.

Police quoted him as saying that some time ago his wife "moved upstairs into the third floor and never permitted me to go up there again."

The son said his mother was the only person who had seen him since he entered his dark tomb, until three or four days ago.

Then, he said, his mother went to the hospital, and "some girl" came to attend him.

Life "Was All Right"

Life in his cubicle "was all right," he said. He had the radio, some ventilation, a dim electric light, and his meals came on time. Occasionally his mother gave him a newspaper to read.

His mother, he said, lowered his food to him through the top of the cubbyhole, where an opening led up to the roof of the building. There were no sanitary facilities.

Discovery of the man brought throngs of neighbors out into the streets in the early morning hours today.

One man declared he had known young Makushak at Bushwick High School, and remembered him well as an exceptionally bright student. Makushak later went to business school at New York University, this informant said.

McDonald said he did not know if any charges would be filed.

He said the possibility that Makushak's exile might have been to evade the draft would be a matter for the F.B.I. to consider.

Putung Is Seized

Shanghai, April 27 (AP)—Red guerrillas in a surprise coup today seized Putung, right across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai. At the same time Nationalist troops abandoned Sooghow (Wuh-shien), guardian city for Shanghai 50 miles to the west. (Red possession of Putung in any strength could make all operations on the Whangpoo, including evacuation of foreigners, hazardous.)

Israel Has Task of Taking In 150,000 Refugees a Year

Tel Aviv, April 27 (AP)—Suppose 25 million immigrants arrived in the United States this year.

That is three times as many people as live in New York city—more people than the combined populations of Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Missouri and Kansas.

In proportion to the total population, that is the rate at which immigrants arrived in newborn Israel in the year since it became a nation last May 15. And that is the rate at which they are expected to continue to arrive for the next four years, doubling the population in five years.

In America that would mean two million immigrants a month—more than the number which entered the United States in any year of the golden era of immigration from 1905 to 1914.

Here it means 150,000 a year, almost 15,000 a month, which is a year ago had only 750,000 population, that presents a social and economic problem that is staggeringly twenty-fold greater than the United States faced at its maximum absorption of new citizens.

There is a phrase for it in the Hebrew prayers: "Kibbutz Galuyot"—the gathering of exiles.

Greatest Test

It is the purpose for which this state was proclaimed.

And in the plain words of the stocky silver-haired Prime Minister, David Ben Gurion, it is the greatest test that Israel will face and the hardest job she has to do.

It will force upon the country at least five years of "rigid austerity" which the government is now drawing up; extreme sacrifices of which the citizens of the new state are being forewarned.

When the new immigrant arrives aboard the sardine-packed ships and planes, there isn't any red carpet rolled out for him. He is welcome and he is wanted. But no band play at the port.

Those who would have to roll out the carpet or play in the band probably arrived themselves not long ago. And there is too much to do to waste time on fanfare and ceremony.

The new immigrant likely arrives with all his worldly goods in a duffelbag or old suitcase. The first things he needs and gets are a DDT spraying, some food and a medical examination and inoculations.

He is sent at once to a reception center, each holding about 4,000. He stays there from a week to a month, living in wooden barracks if he is lucky—and in tents if he isn't. The idea is to get him out of there and into some sort of community as quickly as possible. He probably has had too much of camps already.

What He Receives

When he leaves he gets: A ration card, an identity card, a mattress, a pair of blankets, and seven to 12 pounds cash—$21 to $30.

That and temporarily rent-free lodging are his stake for a new life.

He has three choices: He can live in town, if he can support himself with a job there. But towns in Israel already are jammed to bulging. Abandoned Arab communities are being used for town housing. Forty thousand immigrants have been put in Jaffa; 5,000 in Ramle; 4,000 in Lydda, and other thousands in the former Arab sections of Jerusalem, Haifa, Safad and Acre.

Or he can go to Kibbutz or to a Moshav—if there is room for him. A Kibbutz is the typical rural community of Israel. It is a communal settlement. That is not to be confused with political Communism. It is an economic and social communal life.

There the immigrant or his family have a room or a cottage. They eat in a community dining room. They work, each at his best trade, in the fields or the fisheries or the factories of the settlement. They get no pay. But everything they require, from shoes to cigarettes, is supplied by the community. There is a two-week vacation every year. Then, or at other times when the Kibbutz visits town, he may draw a little spending money.

He owns nothing—except his equal share in the whole community. His life is healthy, tranquil. Many like it.

But the government is aware that many immigrants are averse to joining a Kibbutz, "which seems to them still another camp," as one official put it.

For these, the Moshav Ovdim is an alternative. It is a cooperative village, but not fully communal as the Kibbutz. There, for example, the settler can own his house and the quarter to half acre of land that goes with it.

Some Kibbutzim are wealthy, long-established, fitted with luxuries. Some are raw, new, rugged pioneering.

There are not enough of either communal settlements or cooperative villages to hold the teeming influx of new citizens. They are being founded as fast as land labor and strained economy will permit.

Even at the best, it is estimated officially that 70 per cent of this year's immigrants may spend this summer under canvas. If so, they are not expected to complain too much. At least these will be the tents of their own homeland. Much of its making for better will be in their hands.

Braves Second Baseman Eddie Stanky slides back into first base too late and is the third out of a triple play executed by the Brooklyn Dodgers in third inning of game at Ebbets Field, N. Y. Play started with Stanky on first, Braves Pitcher Johnny Sain on second, both on singles. Boston Shortstop Al Dark hit a fly to short left, and Dodger Left Fielder Gene Hermanski made a shoestring catch of the ball. He tossed to Second Baseman Jackie Robinson to double Sain. Robinson threw to Dodger First Baseman Gil Hodges (left) to retire the side. Dodgers won, 5-2.

Eagles Win 17-4

The By-Pass Eagles routed the Hutton Park men, 17-4, Sunday in baseball. Johnny Myers and Zales formed the winning battery, with Gill and Petronio working for the losers. Joe Hoffman Jr. featured with two spectacular catches, while Mark Rubin was the batting star with five hits in six trips. Ken Hastings hit a triple.

Softball Drill

A meeting of Union Hose softball team will be held Thursday, April 28, at 7 p. m. at 216 East Union street. All members of the squad are requested to attend.

League Champs To Visit Stadium

The Bristol, Conn., Clippers, last year's championship Colonial League squad, are tentatively scheduled to play an exhibition game at the municipal stadium Saturday night. President Ted Laviano announced this morning. Confirmation was expected later in the day.

The unofficial opener will serve to introduce to Kingston fans, the Colonials' new 20-man squad and such outstanding newcomers as Pete Elko, Ray Riescher, Jerry Murray and others.

Kingston defeated the Poughkeepsie Chiefs, 15-14, last Sunday in the Bridge City.

White Injured

Chief incident in yesterday's extended batting and fielding drill at the stadium was the clipping of pitcher Art White by a wicked line drive. The ball caromed off White's leg and shook him up momentarily. The injury, however, was not serious and White will be in uniform today.

Manager Julie Laviano said that no further squad cuts are planned until after Saturday's exhibition, if then. Chances are that the current roster will be carried through the first week of play.

Long balls splattered all over municipal stadium as the players fished improved batting eyes. By the end of the week most of the club's sluggers should be in pretty fair shape.

May Trade Turner

President Laviano said there was a good chance that Kingston could work a deal with Bristol at the league meeting in Waterbury Saturday.

Kingston has offered Mahlon "Red" Turner in a trade to the defending champions, who are rich in talent. Laviano apparently has given up on the possibility of placing Turner for the 1949 season and is anxious to unload the curve ball specialist.

Bristol will feature a brand new lineup as several of last year's championship regulars have advanced to the parent club, Baltimore of the International and other higher classifications. The manager, Al Barrillani, is one of two holdovers in the circuit.

Zale Retires

Chicago, April 27 (AP)—Tony Zale, with enough gumption to admit that he is over the hill, has retired from the ring after a long, brilliant, rough career.

In making his decision, the "Man of Steel" whose age has made him a bit rusty, surrendered a $60,000 guarantee for a return bout with Marcel Cerdan. The Frenchman won Zale's middleweight crown on a 12th round technical knockout in Jersey City last Sept. 21.

The two battlers had been re-matched at New York's Polo Grounds June 21. Zale, who will be 36 next month, was assured of at least $60,000 as his share.

The Tournament of Champions promoting firm now plans to give veteran Steve Belloise or possibly battle-scarred Jake La Motta, the Bronx Bull, a chance at Cerdan in June or September.

A Sugar Ray Robinson-Kid Gavilan welterweight title bout may be on the same card.

Admits Decline

Zale, father of two young daughters, will not hang up his gloves. He will wear them in the role of chief instructor teaching lads of Chicago's Catholic Youth Organization how to fight.

"I looked bad against Cerdan," said Zale, a clean-living family man whose bloody scraps with Rocky Graziano made ring history. "I realize I've passed my peak. It was to satisfy my pride that I wanted to meet Cerdan again. But now I'm satisfied to rest on my past."

Dr. Diacovo, Schneider Win Twaalfskill Sweeps

Dr. Mike Diacovo and George Schneider shot net 78s to win the ball sweepstakes this week at Twaalfskill Golf Club. Diacovo posted a gross 90, with 12 handicap, while Schneider had 98 gross with 20 handicap.

Other winners were E. Frank Flanagan 116-40-76; Lew Smith 86-10-76; Walton Fitzgerald 94-14-80; "Leaky" McFevre 96-16-80; N. LeVan Haver 94-14-80; Dr. Robert McCaig 88-8-80.

Twaalfskill will have its formal seasonal opening with a dinner dance Saturday night.

The Finest Four in '49

The Kingston Colonials' current infield quartet—and there is every reason to believe it will remain intact for the season—figures to be the outstanding quartet in the Colonial League during 1949. You can see them for the first time Saturday night at municipal stadium in the exhibition against Bristol, Conn. Shown in usual order are: Pete Elko, third baseman; Ralph Matzer, shortstop; Eddie McNamara, second base, and Modesto Rodriguez, Puerto Rican collegian.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

Boston's Johnny Sain and the Giant's Larry Jansen are being tabbed today as the two biggest early season pitching flops of 1949. Counted on to carry their teams this year following superlative '48 seasons, both have been terrific disappointments. Each has started three times with nary a victory.

Sain, whose 24 triumphs last year was the biggest single factor in bringing the first National League pennant to Boston in 34 years, currently owns an inglorious 0-2 won-and-lost record.

Jansen, fortunate in being backed by heavy hitting support, has been charged with only one defeat, but the Giants haven't won any of the games Jansen has started.

Both Pounded Hard

Both had extremely rough sledging yesterday. Sain, who previously had been beaten by Philadelphia and shelled from the mound by the Giants, managed to go the distance, but he and the Braves were handed a 5-2 shelling by the Brooklyn Dodgers in Ebbets Field. The big right-hander was tagged for nine hits including home runs by Gene Hermanski and Pee Wee Reese.

Freacher, who spaced seven hits for his first victory for the Dodgers, who regained the league lead, a half game in front of idle Pittsburgh and the Giants. Hermanski, who replaced the left-hitting Cal Abrams in left field, got two hits and also made the flooding gem of the game. He started the first triple play of the season, coming in fast to make a running catch of Alvin Dark's short fly. A Heranski-Jackie Robinson-Gil Hodges relay engineered the triple killing.

Jansen Keeling

Jansen still hasn't pitched a complete game. He last-oddly six-innings yesterday as the fighting Phils came from behind to nip the Giants 12-11 in eleven innings. After the Giants had taken an 11-9 lead in the top of the 11th, the Phils came roaring back with three runs climaxed by El Ennis' home run with a man on base.

Gerry Coleman, rookie infielder filling in for the injured George Stirmweiss at second base, slammed his first major league home run to give the first place New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. Coleman's round tripper came off Alex Kellner in the last half of the eighth with a man aboard to erase a 4-3 Mackmen margin. Kellner had replaced starter Phil Marchildon in the first inning. The latter had complained of pain in his right shoulder while serving up to the first batter.

Tigers Second

The Detroit Tigers moved into second place, a game and a half from the top, by taking both ends of a double header from the White Sox in Chicago, 6-2 and 7-5. The Tigers had to go 10 innings to win the second game.

Johnny Groth, Detroit's sensational rookie, doubled home the runs in the extra frame that gave relief pitcher Dizz Trout the triumph. Groth also helped in the first game victory with a two-run single.

Manager Lou Boudreau hit his first home run of the season and righthander Bob Lemon pitched his first shutout as the Cleveland Indians nipped the St. Louis Browns 1-0. Boudreau's clout came in the fourth and was one of the four hits allowed by Red Embree, a former Indian pitcher. Lemon now has a lifetime record of 13 wins and only one defeat against St. Louis.

The scheduled games between Washington and the Red Sox in Boston, and Cincinnati against the Cardinals at St. Louis were postponed by rain. Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

Duplicator Set

Albany, Calif. April 27 (AP)—Duplicator, the mud-jovin' son of Beau Pere, will be on hand for the Kentucky Derby. After a delay caused by swelling in the right front leg, the thoroughbred was loaded aboard a plane last night for Louisville. Trainer Sam Sechrest said the swelling had gone down.

Title Shot Ready For Archie Moore

Philadelphia, April 27 (AP)—Archie Moore today is only one bout away from a shot at the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

The St. Louis Negro won the honor with a unanimous 10-round decision over previously-unbeaten Harold Johnson in a Convention Hall slugfest last night.

Moore thus earned a crack at the winner of the May 23 Joey Maxim-Gus Lesnevich battle in Cincinnati.

The victor in this elimination is to be tabbed the No. 1 light-heavy challenger for the world crown now held by England's Freddie Mills. Mills captured the title from Lesnevich last fall—but has not defended the laurels since.

The 32-year-old Moore, battle-scarred in a lengthy ring career and wise to most pugilist tricks, has no trouble with the rangy, deadpanned Philadelphian.

Johnson, only 21, had won 24 straight pro fights, 15 by knockouts.

Los Angeles — Manuel Ortiz, 121½, El Centro, Calif. outpointed Luro Sains, 126½, Monterrey, Mex. 10. (Non-title).

Enter Louis, The Promoter

Detroit, April 27. (AP)—Joe Louis makes his debut as a promoter tonight.

The former heavyweight champion will start his new career by staging a boxing show in his home town.

Three 10-rounders, a six-round preliminary and a four-round exhibition featuring World Featherweight Champion Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., are on the program at Olympia Stadium.

As a promoter, Joe didn't disregard the build-up.

With Louis at ringside will be former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey. Dempsey will second his protégé, Ellis Ask of Finland, who opposes Pep in the exhibition.

Joe's press agents have made much of Dempsey's presence in the city.

Most of the principals on Louis' initial program are "unknowns" to Detroit fans.

Houston, Tex.—Dick Smith, 163, Oklahoma City, outpointed Louis Rousse, 160, New Orleans, 10.

Kansas City, Kas. — Jimmy Sheets, 173, Gary, Ind. outpointed Enby Joe Walcott, 174, Duluth, 10.

'Strip Mining'

The rapid spread of "strip mining" in several states is going forward so threateningly that Granges are making a determined stand against such destruction of valuable soil, needed for food production.

A.N.P.A. President Says Press Gives Needed Checkrein

New York, April 27 (AP)—The president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today that "the press supplies that check upon government which a free people must have and which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

David W. Howe, retiring head of the A.N.P.A. and business manager of the Burlington, N.Y., Free Press, told the association's 63rd annual convention that the historic function of the press has been to audit government.

"The advocates of big government have been gnawing away at the press," he said in a prepared speech.

"Curtail its freedom, its strength, or its independence and there will be less vigilance, less resistance to corruption and the abuse of power."

Howe said that "for nearly a generation, Marxian-inspired book writers have created the assumption that the power of government is inherently good. For three centuries have known that it was inherently evil, required constitutional checks and balances, prohibiting from all sources of information and opinion, and continuous auditing by the press."

The A.N.P.A. president said "the welfare state—so-called—imposes an enormous additional burden upon the press. There are several times as many public officials to watch. Tending to smother in some degree all objective and searching reporting is an enormous government propaganda bureau."

The Budget Bureau reports more than $74,800,000 is now spent annually for propaganda by government executive agencies. A total of 42,000 federal employees were found by a congressional subcommittee last December to be engaged in such propaganda work.

Howe also touched on sharply increased costs of newspaper production, which have been a main topic at the convention.

"The past year has seen new tops in newspaper publishing in daily circulation, in Sunday circulation, in advertising income and revenue," he said.

"It has been generally accompanied by a greatly lowered net profit. The inflationary period has fastened high break-even points."

"We are especially vulnerable in general shrinkages of advertising volume. Labor scales, labor costs, taxes and newspaper have given high fixed charges and high unit costs, and circulation prices have reached a ceiling which appears difficult to pierce."

"Economies and greater productivity are recognized as urgent."

Newspapers More Handy
 The publishers at the convention were told in a report presented by Cranston Williams, A.N.P.A. general manager, that the newspaper emergency which has plagued papers since the war is passing.

"For the first time since 1912, supply and demand are nearing a balance," Williams said. "The spot market for newsprint at high prices has vanished."

The general manager explained that two factors—increased production and diversion of newsprint to the United States from countries all over the world—has about ended the shortage. The diversion has come about because of the price here, $100 a ton as against $40 before the war, he said.

Williams said that one mill at Lufkin, Tex., had increased its capacity by 60,000 tons a year with new machines and that a

Credit Becomes Easier As Result of Ruling

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Effective today, it will be easier to get things on credit.

You'll be allowed up to 24 months to pay for a new car and other goods as a result of the Federal Reserve Board's second relaxation of installment controls in two months.

The minimum down payment on cars stays at 33 1/3 per cent but you can get radios, television sets, refrigerators, furniture and many other things with a first payment from 10 to 15 per cent.

Articles costing less than $100 are exempted from credit restrictions. In all cases, of course, dealers can ask higher terms.

plant at Coosa River, Ala., will add 100,000 tons in 1950.

The A.N.P.A. committee on Social Security, headed by A. V. Miller, of the New York Herald Tribune, urged members to keep a sharp eye on the national administration's proposals for greatly expanded Social Security coverage.

"By failing to exercise any positive influence we can let ourselves be rushed along to a state of national bankruptcy," the committee asserted.

Josh L. Horne, of the Rocky Mount, N.C., Telegram, chairman of the group's postal committee, advised the publishers that the committee had some reason to believe new, increased second class mail rates, proposed by the Post Office Department "will not be enacted into law."

Want No Subsidy

The committee said newspapers "want no subsidy from government" but added "there has been developed no plan or system of accounting in the Post Office Department on which fair and adequate rates charges could be based."

The A.N.P.A. committee on advertising agencies, headed by Harry L. Hawkins, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, said the association had recognized 79 new advertising agencies in the past year and cancelled recognition of 23 others.

There now are 860 agencies on the A.N.P.A. approved list.

J. Hale Steinman, of the Lancaster, Pa., Intelligencer-Journal and New Era, chairman of the association's committee on federal laws, told the conference that an increasing number of municipalities "seem to be considering the newspaper as a subject for taxation."

Steinman said in his report that a number of cities have imposed license taxes, and others have sought to impose taxes on the circulation or advertisement of newspapers.

"This trend," Steinman said, "is increasing as more and more states are permitting their cities to increase use of non-property taxes to meet the needs of post-war financing."

Asserting that the U. S. Supreme Court has held that the newspaper may not be segregated for purposes of taxation, Steinman said the committee believed that a newspaper "can successfully combat" any effort at such tax segregation.

No Paper Should Fail

Steinman said the committee believed that no newspaper should fail to protest against any attempt "to license the press either through municipal, state or federal measures."

The association's mechanical department, in a report signed by acting Manager Vernon R. Spitaleri, stated that since the A.N.P.A. launched its campaign to reduce newsprint waste in 1927, those members who participate and report their monthly waste now are "saving" approximately $3,000,000 annually.

Spitaleri said, however, that newsprint waste has been "slowly but definitely increasing" since 1933-34.

R. M. Hederman, Jr., of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger, reported yesterday that earnings of newspaper-owned radio stations have taken a sharp downturn in the past year.

At one session, he said, 28 publishers said they operated radio stations, but only 14 stations were making a profit. All of the stations had been profitable the year before, the owners reported.

Fred Schilpin, of the St. Cloud (Minn.) Times, advised publishers to "stop, look, and listen" before going into any radio projects, such as new FM stations.

Some speakers expressed the view that there already were too many FM stations in the field, and that television shortly would cut heavily into revenues of all radio stations.

One survey shows that there are about 1,500,000 machines vending peanuts and other bulk products in the U. S.

Sokol vs. Sokol

Prague, (AP)—Along with other reforms in Czechoslovakia, old names of football teams have been changed. Gone are the capitalists who used to support soccer clubs and write checks to cover deficits at the end of the season. Now all sports activities in the country are gathered under the control of the government organization, Sokol, and every sports club has Sokol in its name.

One survey shows that there are about 1,500,000 machines vending peanuts and other bulk products in the U. S.

Two Boys Face Charge
Of Trying to Kill Teacher

Arthur, Ill., April 27 (AP)—Two boys who bent and shot a 57-year-old country school teacher in revenge for a spanking given them by her husband, face a possible charge of attempted murder today.

The boys, Lloyd Titus, 16, and Glen Phillips, 17, are held in the Sullivan County Jail. State's Attorney Joseph C. Munch, said no charge had been placed against them immediately but he was holding them for attempted murder.

Sheriff Glen W. Braden said the boys, in statements, related that Titus shot Mrs. Nina Donahoe at the White School west of here yesterday. Mrs. Donahoe, shot in the groin, was in a hospital suffering from shock and loss of blood.

Braden said the boys, pupils at the nearby Maple Grove School where Mrs. Donahoe's husband, George W. is teacher, went to the White School yesterday planning to steal her automobile. On Monday, Braden said Donahoe had spanked the boys as punishment for passing a note in school.

They thought stealing Mrs. Donahoe's car would be a way of getting even with their teacher for the paddling," Braden said.

The sheriff said Titus struck Mrs. Donahoe on the head with the pistol and grabbed her purse as she fled. When they fled she followed them out of the school building. As she attempted to retrieve her purse she was shot.

After the shooting the boys fled across fields and hid under a railroad bridge more than a mile from the White School. They were found by sheriff's deputies an hour later and surrendered after a deputy fired one shot.

A Long Treaty Delay

While the United States is a signatory power to the Atlantic Pact, which was signed at Washington on April 4, Senator Lucas, majority leader of the Senate, has informed Secretary of State Acheson that the treaty will probably not come up for ratification for several months. This treaty pledges the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark and Italy to mutual aid in the event of attack. Iceland and Portugal have been invited to join the alliance.

New York, April 27 (AP)—Members of the Telephone Employees Organization in the accounting department of the New York Telephone Company have voted 1,703 to 1,460 to affiliate with the C.I.O. This was announced yesterday by Miss Margaret Kennedy, president of the T.E.O., which has 3,500 members. The vote of the accounting department workers in New York and Westchester and Rockland counties was part of a C.I.O. drive to sign up all of the estimated 600,000 telephone workers in the country. The C.I.O. says 45,000 have been signed.

House Paint
STAYS WHITE

Yes, "Self-Cleaning" Du Pont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash the powder away, taking dust and dirt with it and leaving the surface clean and white again. Excessive accumulations of dirt (particularly in sooty industrial communities or in heavily shaded locations) may delay or interfere with this process. Because this "Self-Cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected. It starts white...It stays white.

Church-Night Hour

The first in a series of four Church-Night Fellowship Hours will be held in St. James Methodist Church, corner Fair and Pearl streets, Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The theme of the series will be "China—Twilight or Dawn?" The general subject will be briefly introduced at this first fellowship hour by the pastor, the Rev. Merrill C. Johnson, and by the showing of an unusually fine motion picture, "My Name Is Han," depicting the Christian Church at work in China. Visitors are cordially welcome.

"I keep thinking I see elephants!"

Dan: "You do, Ted. I'm gonna parade these elephants around town, carrying signs that read, 'LENNOX'—World's Largest—Manufacturers and Engineers—of Warm Air Heating Systems." Like it?"

Ted: "Sounds impressive—but how come?"

Dan: "Well, the Lennox name is famous in home heating. The Lennox Company is the most prominent in the business; they have over 6,000 experienced dealers like me all over America. This message also shows why Lennox systems are so efficient; they're built by experts!"

Ted: "And the final words tell me there're lots of Lennox systems!"

Dan: "Dozens and dozens of 'em in sizes and types for gas, oil, and coal! What d'you think of my idea?"

Ted: "Super-colossal! And here's some more advice: better sign me up for a Lennox right now."
